The amendment received 23 November 2007 has been made of record. Claims 8-14 and 23-44 are pending.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 8 and 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shoji et al '051 in view of Yacobucci et al '858 and Thompson et al '856.

Claims 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shoji et al in view of Yacobucci et al and Thompson et al and further in view of Kurabayashi et al '975.

Claims 8 and 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yacobucci et al '858 in view of Yacobucci et al '101 and Thompson et al '856.

Claims 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yacobucci et al '858 in view of Yacobucci et al '101 and Thompson et al and further in view of Kurabayashi et al '975.

Each of these rejections is maintained for reasons of record. Applicants' newly added "consisting essentially of" language is not seen as patentably distinguishing over the teachings of the prior art.

Applicants' arguments in traverse of each of these rejections appears to focus on the allegation that Thompson et al lacks a clear teaching of the use of non-blocked reactive components. The examiner disagrees. The use of "may be protected" language by Thompson et al is seen as a clear teaching that the reactive species may not be protected. It is noted that Thompson et al teach that one or both of the reactive components may be kept in separate container(s). This teaching is seen as reinforcing the interpretation of "may not be protected".

Claims 23-44 are allowed.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
